TRIBAL LAND ALLOTMENT AGREEMENT FOR TRANSFER OF PROPERTY

All Shinnecock tribal territory, including allotted lands, is held in common by the Shinnecock Nation and is allotted under the authority of the duly elected Council of Trustees. There are areas on Shinnecock that have been designated for tribal use and will not be allotted for individual use. Any land transaction must be certified by five (5) current Trustees.

The allotted land being transferred is grandfathered to the size of its current resident, as substantiated by their original Allotment Record or the Homeowner Registration Form retained in the Tribal Office. All domestic structures and buildings must not exceed this boundary, otherwise the allotment will be invalidated and said allotment will revert back to Nation. The new owner must be living in the home within three (3) years from the date of transfer, or upon completion of any necessary tribal services that allow the home to be livable. If tribal member is not living in the home within this time frame, the allotment will be invalid and the land will revert back to the Nation. The Nation will assume no responsibility for any monies, lumber or supplies that was put into said allotted land. All homeowners must have a copy of their Allotment Record on file in the Tribal Office, otherwise the allotment will be invalid and the land will revert back to the Nation. Anyone who does not have an Allotment Record on file may submit Homeownership Recertification Form.

All homes on Shinnecock are to be occupied by a blood member or the blood member's spouse and their legitimate issue. Homeowners must list all Shinnecock relatives and non-Shinnecock family that currently reside in the home. In accordance with the Shinnecock Nation Residency Ordinance, all non-Shinnecock family, in-laws, step-family, and visitors residing in the home must have a Visitors Registration Form on file with the Tribal Enrollment Office, along with a copy of the person's birth certificate and/or a valid form of identification to continue residency.

I, _____ the undersigned, having read and understood the above, hereby agree to the terms set forth pursuant to the rules and procedures of Land Allotment ordinance.
